Your Honor,

I am a big believer in the free market system and do not believe that Microsoft is at fault in there business practices. My children and I have leaned a lot about computers thanks to Microsoft and all there helps and free software from them. In fact thanks to the openness of Microsoft my children have leaned HTML, Java and mpeg design for web pages. Am I one sided maybe I have been with Microsoft in away on computers since the days of DOS.

I believe that any negative judgment against Microsoft is more something I would see in a communist country.
